Supplemental Election/Restriction

1. This action is responsive to the amendment of August 24, 2007 and the complying supplemental amendment of January 31, 2008. In the amendment of August 24, 2007, claims 1, 7-8, 10, 17, and 20 were amended, and claim 19 was canceled. In the amendment of January 31, 2008, claim 7 was amended.
2. Upon further consideration, because the primer combination of claim 12 requires the primer pair SEQ ID NOS 23-24, claim 12 has been rejoined. It is again noted that a teaching of methods of the claims employing the primer pair of SEQ ID NOS 23-24 was not identified in the prior art (see paragraph 2 of the Office action of March 22, 2007).
3. Additionally, in view of applicant's amendment of claim 8, the claim no longer encompasses a multitude of different primer pairs, but is now limited to SEQ ID NOS 23-24. Accordingly, claim 9 has now also been rejoined, and a further species election is required with regard to the subject matter of claim 9, which recites a different group of primers, none of which was previously elected by applicant. It is noted that this requirement is supplemental to the requirement set forth in the Office action of March 27, 2006.
4. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: the four different primer pairs set forth in claim 9. The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1-2 are generic with respect to claim 9.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.
